Kaye Bartlett

Kaye Bartlett resides in Danbury of Wooster. Kaye has lived a long and adventure filled life, starting with where he grew up in central Michigan. He spent 21 months in the Navy, and really enjoyed his time there. Kaye worked in the Navy as a Chief of Staff Messenger, passing important Navy communications along. During his time in the Navy, Kaye recalls spending time in Argentina, Newfoundland. He even spent time on sea duty in the Miquelon Island. The island is located in the Atlantic Ocean off the coast of Newfoundland. Kaye described having memorable moments there and knew it was something he would never forget. He recalls it being the 1st time a U.S. vessel that was primarily an oil barge pulled into the post. Kaye met his wife, Nancy at the Wayne County Fair in Wooster, OH. They were married at the Chapel of Transfiguration in Moose, Wyoming before attending Michigan State. They both earned bachelor's degrees, Kaye's was in Extension Education and Nancy's from Muskingum in Education. They then attended Michigan State where they earned their Master's degrees, Kaye's being in Resource Management and Nancy's in Education.

The couple then moved to the Cleveland area where Kaye was the Cuyahoga County Agriculture Agent as Nancy prepared for the arrival of their first son.

Their sons, Bryan and Jeffrey, turned out to be military men that Kaye is very proud of. Bryan was in the Airforce Academy and became a helicopter pilot. Jeffrey decided to take his GI bill and finish his college education and graduated a Major. Kaye's two sons now live in Hawaii and Virginia but helped out when finding a new home for their parents. Jeffrey heavily researched across the entire state of Ohio until he landed on Danbury Senior Living.

"My son did a lot of research to find his mother and I a good place to live, after he met Rachel and she answered every question possible, he looked no further because he knew Danbury was the place for us to be." -Kaye Granddaughter Sierra, with great-grandchildren Abigayle, Colt and lastly, Kaye.

Although he recently lost his dear wife, Nancy, Kaye says he really enjoys his time at Danbury and especially loves talking with the friendly staff. He has a lot of visitors including his grandchildren and great grandchildren. We are so happy to have such a wonderful resident at Danbury of Wooster and thank you for your service Kaye!
